ABSTRACT

A cover is secured over a device supported by a substrate. A bond ring is formed on the cover, and an intermediate tacking layer is formed on top of the bond ring. The substrate is tacked to the tacking layer. The cover is then staked to the substrate.